

The Role of Context in Children's Biological and Social Adjustment: Is Supportive Parenting the Key?

Amanda S. Morris, Ph.D.

Bryan Close Professor, HDFS, OSU

Friday, Jan. 17th, 12-1:00pm

OSU Center for Health Sciences

Room D107, 1111 West 17th Street, Tulsa

Light lunch provided

At the conclusion of this seminar participants will be able to:

- Understand how parenting affects child adjustment through several biological mechanisms.
- Describe specific links between parenting and children and adolescent's emotion regulation and socio-emotional adjustment.
- Consider the role of parenting in children and adolescents' physical and mental health.

Seminar Series co-sponsored by

Center for Family Resilience, OSU-Tulsa
& OSU Center for Health Sciences

Questions? Contact Dr. Harrist, amanda.harrist@okstate.edu.